Paul Gogarty : The Coast Road: A 3,000 Mile Journey Round the Edge of England before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Coast Road: A 3,000 Mile Journey Round the Edge of England:

In this travel journal, award-winning writer Paul Gogarty travels 3,000 miles in a motor home, exploring intimate coastal communities and ruminating on the future of the English coast. After an unsettling benediction at Dover's Eastern Docks he travels to Derek Jarman's Dungeness; to rakish Brighton and Madame Rosina's Bournemouth; the mudflats and Arabian sands of the northwest, where he joins a roomful of comedian George Formby impersonators in Blackpool; the now infamous Morcambe Bay where 21 immigrant workers lost their lives; Billy Butlin's Skegness; and a parachuting vicar. The journey comes full circle in the secret creeks of East Anglia. The Coast Road is a warm-hearted tribute to England's coastline written by a romantic spirit who beautifully captures both the idiosyncrasies of the nation and the euphoria of the open road.

About the Author Paul Gogarty is a contributor to the Daily Express, Daily Telegraph, Guardian, and Sunday Times, and travel editor at Cosmopolitan magazine. Extracts from his first book The Water Road won two Guild of Travel Writers awards.
