Pierre Léonforte, Isabelle Valembras-Dahirel, Donatella Brun : The Louis Vuitton City Guide: Milan before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Louis Vuitton City Guide: Milan:

Milan is among the six new destinations added to the worldwide lineup of Louis Vuitton's City Guides. The quintessential guides provide an insider's look at cities all over the world and include insights from over 50 travel journalists, writers and high profile figures from the worlds of art and literature. The guides offer a full panorama of each city as seen through the eyes of a resident cultural icon or local figure, for an insider's address book with suggestions ranging from top restaurants to the best cafés, and the best boutique abodes. Covering twenty-one of the world's greatest cities, the collection now includes freshly-added Berlin, Istanbul, Milan, Rio de Janeiro, Singapore and Shanghai. Since 1998, Louis Vuitton has been sharing its unique perspective of the world through its City Guides which offer a hand-picked selection of addresses in each destination. Each guide includes the participation of a special guest contributor, who all speak from their personal experience in their home cities: a first person singular initiation to the city. A vital companion for the business or leisure Milan-bound travelers, the Louis Vuitton's Milan City Guide consists finest selection of 600 addresses: hotels, restaurants, bars, cafés, tea rooms, fashion houses, galleries, secret museum amongst others. It offers a full panorama of the city, written by a number of acclaimed authors - Pierre Léonforte, Isabelle Valembas-Dahirel and Donatella Brun. The book features exclusive photographs Alain Willaume and collective Tendance Floue, presenting a refreshing take on fashion, design, contemporary art, food and culture. There are also 5 themed itineraries to explore the city on foot and the art of packing by Louis Vuitton. Learn more here: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QCMJFLL76Xs>
