G. E. Farrow : The Wallypug in London (Classic Reprint) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Wallypug in London (Classic Reprint):

With royal dignity and gracious mien Thine high position thou hast graced alway ;N ocloud of discord eer hath come between Thy nation and thyself; the fierce white ray That beats upon thy throne bids hence depart The faintest slander calumny can dart. Thy fame is dear alike to churl and king, And highest honour lies in honouring The Sovereign to whom we bend the knee ;G od save the Queen, one strain unvarying Victoria schildren sing her Jubilee. What prophet, or what seer, with vision keen, Reading the message of a far-off day, The wonders of thy reign could have foreseen, Or known the story that shall last for aye? A page that History shall set apart; Peace and Prosperity in port and mart, Honour abroad, and on resistless wing A steady progress ever-conquering. Thy glorious reign, our glorious theme shall be, And gratitude in every heart upspring Victoria schildren sing her Jubilee. Behold, ye tyrants, and a lesson glean How subjects may be governed. Lo !the way A Woman teaches who doth ne er demean Her office high. Hark !how her people pray For blessings on the head that doth impart Sowise a rule. For them no wrongs do smart, No cruelties oppress, no insults sting, Nor does a despot hand exaction wring ;T hough governed, Britain ssubjects still are free. Gaze then ye unwise rulers wondering Victoria schildren sing her Jubilee.(Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and don't occur in the book.)About the Publisher Forgotten Books is a publisher of historical writings, such as: Philosophy, Classics, Science, Religion, History, Folklore and Mythology.Forgotten Books' Classic Reprint Series utilizes the latest technology to regenerate facsimiles of historically important writings.
