Editors of Time Out : Time Out London Shops and Services 2009 (Time Out London Walks) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Time Out London Shops and Services 2009 (Time Out London Walks):

1 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Needs more pictures By Elf Öner The idea and effort's all great, but in order to decide whether you wanna visit a shop or not, you need to somehow "visualise" it your head. Words, however elegantly and elaborately put together, are inadequate to give you the feeling. I found myself in need to google the store every now and then, which naturally didn't really work out. Same visualisation problem also goes for mapping. Too few photos is one thing; but what's the problem with inserting city maps in the back?

London's dizzying array of standout shops and services are thoroughly researched and reviewed in this popular annual guide. They range from multicultural street markets to deluxe department stores, mold-breaking fashion designers and modish furniture shops to dusty antiquarian dens and secondhand bookstores. The book is divided into Fashion, Health and Beauty, Home, Leisure, Food and Drink, and Babies and Children sections, all supplemented with features, boxes and handy "Best of" selections.
